

ERROR GLASSES

Some glasses during production get printed during the silk screen process with various problems – some are just slightly out of register (not in focus) and this is considered a flaw by the collectors. However a missing color, or wildly and drastically off center printed glass is desirable to those collectors who look for ERROR glasses. Pictured is a rare upside down Coke Santa glass, next to the regular production glass. These error glasses are slowly gaining in popularity.

